

Lutz van Elk

Official and Expert for viticulture and oenology at the Federal Ministry of Food and Agriculture in Germany, Unit in charge for questions regarding organic viticulture, organic wine and sustainability.

Since 1998 official at the Federal Ministry and from that on in charge for questions regarding wine (especially oenological practices) and wine-regulation (especially on oenological practices, wine control, accompanying documents, inward and outward register, trade with third countries and protection of geographical indication) and aromatised wine products (especially on production and labeling, especially on protection of geographical indications). In steady contact with the Commission services and with the other Member States within the framework of the measures to strengthen controls in the wine sector. German delegate at numerous EU-meetings since 1998; Council working Parties and Experts groups in the above mentioned fields. Member of the German delegation at the International Organisation of Vine and Wine (OIV) since 2014.